Air logistics

Air logistics has been gaining more space when it comes to agility in cargo transportation. Due to its nature, as a transport mode that shortens distances, it is ideal for the quick import and export of certain goods, providing readiness and efficiency of logistics for delivery.

Recommended for goods with high added value, small volumes and urgent orders, our air logistics promise you speed and security. Regardless of the urgency, type, or destination of the cargo, we develop and apply all actions to provide you with the best in national or international air transportation.

Air logistics

Why choose Vega Log:

Agility in delivery and competitive pricing, thanks to the regularity of our shipments

Efficiency to hire, check and load your cargo

Relationship with the largest airlines, allowing wide coverage and penetration

Shipment, route and final delivery monitoring

Caution with your cargo to prevent possible damage

Maritime logistics

Maritime logistics is widely used for the import and export of all types of cargo, as it supports a large quantity and variety of products (such as chemicals, fuels, food, sand, cereals, ores, automobiles, etc.), at a relatively low cost, when compared to other transport modes. At Vega Log, we have a wide network, and we are present in several seaports. We have developed good partnerships with shipowners with global operations. Our focus is to provide exclusive service, competitive pricing, and quick solutions. Our team carries your cargo with all the care and agility you need.

Maritime logistics

Why choose Vega Log:

Partnership with the main shipowners on all continents, for both imports and exports

Flexibility to choose the shipping option that best suits your needs

Fast navigation time (transit times) due to the regularity of our shipments

Competitive pricing throughout the logistics chain

Commitment in ensuring the safety of your cargo

Agile resolution of possible contingencies related to the sea freight

Land logistics

Land logistics is certainly the most used when talking about short and medium distance trips, allowing to carry a wide quantity and variety of products (such as large machinery, small volume parts, fragile materials, furniture, electronics and household appliances, liquid, and solid bulks, etc.).

To carry your goods in a safe and practical way, Vega Log relies on modern fleets that come to you, avoiding freight handling, and exponentially reducing the risk of product damage. We offer complete solutions for the route of your cargo, aiming at greater speed and meeting your needs.

Land logistics

Why choose Vega Log:

National coverage, allowing you to reliably expand your business and optimize your sales

Wide range of fleet options to meet the specific transport needs of your products

Convenience of counting on our door to door service, leaving all the care to us, from pickup to final delivery

Fast and efficient delivery logistics, which strengthens your company's image and allows for a significant increase in your sales

Monitoring of each stage of the process, increasing safety along the route

Air freight and shipping insurance

We know that hiring good air and sea transport insurance is the best way to fully protect your cargo. Therefore, we provide the best service to guarantee your peace of mind, regardless of the difficulties that may arise along the way.

Our insurance covers several types of possible cargo and routes, whether nationally or internationally. Hiring is easy and fast and ensures full support in case of robbery or theft. Count on our insurance and leave the protection of your cargo in our hands.

Air freight and shipping insurance

Why choose Vega Log:

Specialized consulting services to increase the safety of your cargo and minimize risks

Conditions and rates suited to the needs and risks of your cargo

Assurance that everything arrives at its destination in perfect condition

Compensation in case of unforeseen events

Streamlined loss adjustment

Cargo consolidation

Cargo consolidation is the practice of joining different shipments to obtain a heavier load, which accelerates and optimizes the transport and storage process. It allows for more goods to be transported at once, reducing the costs involved in the logistical process, whether import, freight, use of containers, warehouse, among others.

VegaLog offers you the best opportunities to take advantage of the spaces, aiming at reducing costs. We guarantee more efficiency to your distribution and also your customer's satisfaction with agile deliveries

Cargo consolidation

Why choose Vega Log:

Reduced costs that give your business the opportunity of being more competitive in final price arrangements

Better use of space and efficient management of loading, facilitating not only movements, but also verification

Qualified and effective service with the guidance of customs specialists

Greater control, safety and agility in the storage and transportation of goods

Faster deliveries to always make your customers pleased

Trade company

In this service, we act as a facilitator between manufacturing and procurement companies, in export or import operations. With the aim to streamline and facilitate trading, we provide guidance on product distribution, we provide tax benefits and advantages mainly for small and medium-sized producers, who do not have their own structure dedicated to foreign trade operations.

Trade company

Our Trade Company services offer you:

Reduction in tax collection, operational costs and fixed expenses of the companies, through the outsourcing of foreign trade services

Convenience to focus on the strategic aspects of your business, leaving import/export operations to us

Access to our global partner network, ensuring operational reliability

Guidance with fluency in international languages and intercultural knowledge of the companies, providing greater credibility in your international negotiations

Customs clearance

Customs clearance is the process of releasing cargo through customs so they can enter or leave the country. It requires a series of specific documentation according to the legislation of each product. It is a fundamental step to allow primacy in the logistic chain of foreign trade.

Avoid irregularities that may cause disapproval and damage to your company. Count on our experience in dealing with the proceeding and bureaucracy involved in this process and dispatch your products quickly and easily. We carry out the documentation and negotiations of clients from all over Brazil and abroad.

Customs clearance

Our customs clearance services offer you:

Highly specialized customs consultancy, with extensive knowledge of customs, tax, fiscal and exchange legislation

Assistance with all administrative procedures, working directly with the agencies involved in obtaining import licenses, certifications, environmental licenses, etc.

Fulfillment of all procedures, with correct documentation and free of any defects that may impact the release of your goods and/or generate penalties for your company

Promptness in the dispatch of your cargo through our expertise in dealing with the procedures

Convenience in leaving all the bureaucracy to us

Special projects

We adapt our procedures to your needs and design special projects according to your profile for special or oversized loads, which require customized logistics.

Offering a versatile and differentiated service, Vega Log performs an analysis of the benefits of each option, studying all route possibilities and calculating the costs of each mode. All of this to find the best way to serve you exactly as you need.
